Introduction

The Nasdaq Fact Book & Company Directory, published annually by the NASD, provides extensive data on the performance of Nasdaq securities and statistics on the Nasdaq market as a whole as well as information to assist in contacting each company directly. It is used as a resource by shareholders, corporations, investment analysts, brokerage firms, financial media, government, and educational institutions.

Nasdaq, the second largest stock market in the United States and the fifth largest in the world, began operations on February 8, 1971. In 1990, Nasdaq's share volume totaled 33.4 billion shares — compared with 2.2 billion in its first year — and its dollar volume climbed to nearly one-half trillion dollars. Nasdaq now accounts for more than 40 percent of total equity trading on organized markets in the United States.

Despite the double-edged threat of war and recession, The Nasdaq Stock Market closed out 1990 with a strong performance. By year's end, most Nasdaq indexes had rebounded sharply from losses earlier in the year with gains in the fourth quarter ranging from 2.3 to 13.3 percent. Nasdaq trading volume reached 33.4 billion, the third highest year in Nasdaq history and Nasdaq's dollar volume climbed to $452 billion, the second highest ever.

Nasdaq Adjusts to Its Changing Environment

During Nasdaq's 20 years of existence, the NASD has constantly evaluated the market's listing criteria, periodically adjusting both quantitative and qualitative standards upon which investor confidence is built. Last year, the NASD took steps to raise standards for those companies that seek to list on regular Nasdaq. Nasdaq National Market System listing criteria, which exceed those of regular Nasdaq, remain unchanged.

If approved by the SEC, applicant companies for regular Nasdaq will be required to have total assets of $4 million and a public float of $2 million (double the present level) while companies already listed must maintain at least $2 million in equity and a public float of no less than $1 million. For public companies that cannot meet these standards, the NASD's new OTC Bulletin Board will serve as a seasoning ground, preparing them until they qualify for listing on regular Nasdaq.

Nasdaq's Small Order Execution System, which guarantees automatic execution of customer agency orders of up to 1,000 shares — at the best available price — was also improved in 1990 with the addition of a limit-order match feature. The new feature enables public customers to receive automatic execution of matching limit orders priced within the best bid and ask. In addition to its benefit as a portfolio management tool, the order-match feature provides investors with a valuable means of lowering their transaction costs.

Market-Maker Information Expanded Under New Rule

New rules adopted in 1990 now require Nasdaq market makers to display substantially more information on their workstations about the depth and liquidity of markets they make. This is the result of an NASD rule that requires market makers to display the number of shares they will buy and sell at their quoted prices in amounts no less than their trading obligations in the Small Order Execution System.

The newly displayed information provides greater insight into the quality, liquidity, and depth of markets on Nasdaq.

By looking ahead to the future of worldwide clearance and settlement standards, Nasdaq became the first domestic stock market to feature a same-day comparison capability. Called the Automated Confirmation Transaction (ACT) service, it reduces the risk of clearance and settlement and prepares the industry for the eventuality of a shorter settlement cycle.

SelectNet℠ is another market service introduced in 1990. This screen-based trade negotiation service gives the trading community a means for obtaining fast, low-cost, and efficient execution of orders. In periods of active markets, it enables market makers to better service their customers.

Following a U.S. Court of Appeals decision to vacate SEC Rule 19c4, the shareholder voting rights rule, the NASD swiftly adopted a mirror-like rule of its own for Nasdaq National Market companies. The NASD rule gives companies maximum flexibility in deciding their capital structure while it protects the rights of existing shareholders. The NASD's rule also preserves hard-earned blue-sky exemptions for Nasdaq National Market companies, which many states granted in response to the NASD's corporate governance standards.

Goal of 100 Percent Parity in Reach

As a result of continuous work with state legislatures and securities administrators, Nasdaq National Market companies now enjoy exemptions from registration or parity with the exchanges in 42 jurisdictions. In addition, there is some form of an exemption in most of the remaining jurisdictions, and parity with the exchanges in all states should be realized by the end of 1991.

To increase awareness and understanding, The Nasdaq Stock Market launched a national advertising program in 1990. The program, which includes print and broadcast advertising, conveys the message that Nasdaq is a different stock market — efficient and technologically sophisticated — with much to offer public companies and investors. This program continues in 1991.

Transatlantic Securities Market Will Offer Opportunity

Facilitated by advances in telecommunications technology, cross-border equity trading has almost doubled in the last three years and increased 16-fold since 1979. By the year 2000, it is expected to reach nearly $5 trillion. As investors, issuers, and securities firms each expand their horizons in search of the best return, low-cost capital, and international business opportunities, the globalization of world capital markets will accelerate.

Developed in response to these demands, Nasdaq International, a UK-based version of The Nasdaq Stock Market, will be unveiled in 1991. Designed to provide securities firms, investors, and world-class companies with the opportunity to participate in a new transatlantic securities market for U.S. equities, the Nasdaq International market will feature an international quotation network; efficient, computerized trade reporting; and U.S. clearance and settlement.

[1] Reported share volume in Nasdaq/NMS issues, which accounted for 75.5 percent of total share volume in 1990, is calculated from real-time, last-sale reports entered into Nasdaq within 90 seconds of the time the transaction occurred, in the same manner that volume in exchange-listed securities is reported to the Consolidated Tape Association (CTA). Volume in non-Nasdaq/NMS issues is calculated from end-of-day market-maker reports in each security. The net change in the market maker's inventory plus the number of shares that it has both bought and sold (i.e., the larger of its total buys and sells) is accumulated from all market-maker reports, aggregating total volume for non-Nasdaq/NMS.

[2] Nasdaq daily dollar volume is the sum of each issue's daily share volume multiplied by the closing inside bid price except that, for Nasdaq/NMS securities, the daily share volume is multiplied by the last-sale price. Monthly dollar volume is the total of daily dollar volume for all trading days in the month.

[3] The price of an average share traded is computed by dividing dollar volume by share volume.

Every month, the NASD releases to the media open short-interest positions in all Nasdaq stocks. The reported open short-interest positions reflect the total number of shares sold short by NASD members and their customers. A "short sale" generally refers to the sale of a security that the seller does not own or any sale that is consummated by the delivery of a security borrowed by, or for the account of, the seller.

[1]"Net tangible assets" means total assets (excluding goodwill) minus total liabilities.

[2]Continued Nasdaq/NMS inclusion requires net tangible assets of at least $2 million if the issuer has sustained losses from continuing operations and/or net losses in two of its three most recent fiscal years or $4 million if the issuer has sustained losses from the continuing operations and/or net losses in three of its four most recent fiscal years.

[3]Public float is defined as shares that are not "held directly or indirectly by any officer or director of the issuer and by any person who is the beneficial owner of more than 10 percent of the total shares outstanding. . . ."

[4]Or 300 shareholders of round lots.

Nasdaq National Market System Qualitative Standards

To qualify for admission to Nasdaq/NMS, a company must adhere to corporate governance standards that require it to:

- Have a minimum of two independent directors on its board.
- Maintain an Audit Committee composed of a majority of independent directors.
- Provide shareholders with annual reports and make quarterly as well as other reports available to them.
- Examine all related-party trades for potential conflicts of interest.
- Hold an annual meeting of shareholders and provide notice of such meeting to the NASD.
- Specify in its bylaws a quorum of not less than 33⅓ percent of the outstanding shares of the company's common stock.
- Solicit proxies and provide statements for all meetings of shareholders, as well as file such proxy solicitations with the NASD.
- Secure shareholder approval for certain transactions and increases in the amount of stock outstanding.
- Execute a Nasdaq/NMS listing agreement.

Note: Foreign issuers may be exempted if compliance would be in contravention of law or business practices in the issuers' country of domicile.

Nasdaq National Market System Stock Table

The following stock table covers the 2,576 Nasdaq National Market System (Nasdaq/NMS) issues: 870 advanced in 1990 from the close of 1989, 1,566 declined, and 140 remained unchanged.

Reading from left to right, the data on each security are as follows:

- The symbol by which the security is identified in The Nasdaq Stock Market, on Nasdaq terminals, and on desktop terminals. Below the symbol is the issuer's Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) code.
- The name of the issue, issuer's investor relations/media contact, and the contact's title, address, and telephone number.
- The 1990 share volume in the security (0 if less than 1,000 shares). If the security entered Nasdaq/NMS during 1990, this figure includes the 1990 volume in the security both before and after it entered Nasdaq/NMS.
- The 1990 high and low prices for the security. The high and low prices may be either bid quotations (intraday or end of day) or actual transaction prices, depending on whether the high and low prices were established before or after the security entered Nasdaq/NMS.
- The 1990 and 1989 closing prices. For those securities which entered Nasdaq/NMS during 1990, this is a quotation and not a transaction price. If the security had a stock split or dividend during 1990, as shown by the symbol [†], the 1989 closing price has been adjusted accordingly. For example, if the actual 1989 closing price was 20 and the stock was split 2-for-1 in 1990, the 1989 closing price is shown as 10.
- The percent change, reflecting the difference between the 1989 closing price and the 1990 closing price. An asterisk [*] indicates that the security entered The Nasdaq Stock Market during 1990, and that the changes from 1989 are actually the changes from the closing price on its first day of trading in 1990.

Finding a Stock Listing

The alphabetical order of the stock entries on pages 42 - 131 is based on the official name of the company as recorded on its 10-K and 10-Q filings with the SEC and the NASD. The procedure for alphabetizing the listings in the tables assigns a value to each character for sequencing the entries. All issuer names beginning with an Arabic number will precede the A-letter group on page 42 or 133. Company names were alphabetized before being abbreviated.

Common shares are listed first. Securities other than common follow in this order: subsequent classes of common (Cl A, Cl B, etc.); debentures (Dbs); preferred shares (Pfd); subsequent classes of preferred (Pfd A, Pfd B, etc.); units (Uts); warrants (Wts); subsequent classes of units or warrants (Uts 89, Wts 89, Uts A, etc.).

Nasdaq Securities Stock Table

The following stock table covers the 2,130 Nasdaq issues that are not in the Nasdaq National Market: 86 advanced from the close of 1989, 2,008 declined, and 36 remained unchanged.

Reading from left to right, the data on each security are as follows:

- The symbol by which the security is identified on Nasdaq terminals and on desktop terminals. Below the symbol is the issuer's Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) code.
- The name of the issue followed by (M) if eligible for purchase in margin accounts, issuer's investor relations/media contact, and the contact's title, address, and telephone number.
- The 1990 share volume in the security (0 if less than 1,000 shares).
- The 1990 high and low bid price, either intraday or end of day.
- The 1990 and 1989 closing bid prices. The 1989 bids that have been adjusted for stock splits or dividends are indicated by the symbol [†].
- The percent change, reflecting the difference between the 1989 final adjusted inside bid price and the 1990 closing bid price. An asterisk [*] indicates that the security entered The Nasdaq Stock Market during 1990 and that the changes from 1989 are actually the changes from the closing inside bid price on its first day of quotation in 1990.
